MACARI'S FLYING HEADER

It's this week's
Golden Goal

Spurs

NORTH London will be divided on Wednesday evening when giants Tottenham and Arsenal clash in the most exciting tie of the League Cup fourth round.

It's a game that will pit Match columnists Kenny Sansom of the Gunners and Glenn Hoddle of Spurs against each other.

Here they talk about the crunch derby match, their own League Cup hopes and take a brief look at some of the other ties.

Interviews by Anthony Hawkswell.

ALL-OUT ATTACK!

GLENN — IT IS very difficult to predict how the game will go because if one team scores an early goal all the well-laid plans will become irrelevant.

Being the home side the onus will be on us to attack — but we are that sort of side. I can't see us approaching the match any other way.

The cup is a one-off affair so their 2-0 win in the League earlier this season counts for nothing and certainly won't be in our minds.

'I'm going for a home win!'

KENNY — CONFIDENCE at Arsenal is sky high — we know that the Spurs have not beaten us in our last eight meetings.

The last time we were beaten by our North London rivals was in 1976 when they won 2-0.

But we will not underestimate the difficulty of the task ahead.

I reckon that they will throw everything at us for the first half hour and then the pace will even itself out.

I am tipping our strike force of Frank Stapleton and Alan Sunderland to play a leading role in our victory.

THE FANS

GLENN — THE build-up to the match began weeks ago when the draw was first made — fans have been coming up to me and wishing me well ever since.

This sort of atmosphere really gets to the players and I know that the Spurs' lads are looking forward to the tie.

Of course we will be playing in front of our own crowd and this will be an important advantage. But the Arsenal fans will also be making their voices heard.

I just hope the fans enjoy the match and there is no trouble on the terraces to spoil what should be a cracking occasion.

KENNY — I AM expecting a tremendous atmosphere on the night — derby matches are always special, but derby cup ties are really something else.

The excitement of a sudden death competition really gets to the crowd and of course the fans' enthusiasm is carried over to the players.

There will be a lot of fans rooting for Spurs, so the home advantage will be important in that respect — but there are plenty of people coming over from Highbury to cheer us on.

FRIENDS? FORGET IT

GLENN — I SHALL be forgetting about my friendship with Kenny when we step out on to the pitch at White Hart Lane on Wednesday night.

I shall just be concentrating on helping Spurs beat Arsenal and progress to the next round of the competition.

Obviously after the match we will meet in the players' lounge, and have a drink — and talk about the match.

Another friend I look forward to meeting is Graham Rix, who I also know well through our involvement with the England teams.

KENNY — I FIRST met Glenn when we roomed together in March 1978 in Manchester when England Under-21 played Italy at Maine Road and we became firm friends.

Although I do not see much of him outside the game we always get together after matches involving our teams.

It is a strange feeling coming up against your friends on the field. I try my best to put it out of my mind and concentrate on the match.

No doubt Glenn will come into my territory during the game but I shall be determined to come out on top of the encounters.

Match columnists
GLENN HODDLE and KENNY SANSOM give their League Cup
verdicts

LEAGUE CUP MAGIC

GLENN — TO ME the League Cup is just as important as the FA Cup.

The atmosphere is the same for both competitions and the chance of playing in a Wembley final in front of 100,000 people is what every player dreams about.

I think that it is quickly catching up with the FA Cup in popularity and I would love to get to the Final with Spurs this season.

I enjoy cup matches because they are a break from the League programme and they have an atmosphere all of their own.

KENNY — ANY competition with Wembley as its final destination has to be special — and I love playing at Wembley.

The FA Cup will always be the top competition but there's no denying that the bigger clubs are becoming more interested in the League Cup now that a place in Europe is also at stake.

It seemed strange to me that until recently the bigger clubs never appeared to be interested in the competition — but the story is different now.

THE FULL DRAW

THE full draw for the fourth round is: Birmingham v Ipswich; Manchester City v Notts County; Spurs v Arsenal; Coventry v Cambridge; Watford v Nottingham Forest; West Ham v Barnsley; West Brom v Preston; and Liverpool v Portsmouth.

CUP TIPS

GLENN — I CAN'T see any of the First Division teams going out of the Cup at the expense of smaller clubs.

But I reckon that Nottingham Forest will have to wait until a replay at the City Ground before they can beat Second Division Watford — and Coventry will have a tough match with Cambridge before going through.

If Spurs don't win the League Cup I would put my money on Liverpool or Nottingham Forest. Forest have not enjoyed the best of times recently but they seem to put on something special in the League Cup.

Liverpool have never impressed in the competition — and I can't see that continuing for much longer.

KENNY — I agree with Glenn — I can't see any shocks in this round of the League Cup. I reckon that all the big teams will go through.

Obviously, I am tipping ourselves to beat Spurs and I think that the other all-First Division clash between Birmingham and Ipswich will go to the Suffolk team after a replay.

Giant killers Cambridge, who have beaten Wolves and Aston Villa on their way to a tie at Coventry, will have to produce something special to beat the 'Sky Blues'.

I am tipping Arsenal to go all the way to the final, but if we don't make it I would like to see the cup come back to London with West Ham as winners.

MATCH WINNERS

GLENN — IT would be wrong to go into an important game such as this worrying about the opposition.

Obviously we respect Arsenal for what they are — a very strong First Division team.

If I had to pick out any outstanding players my first choice would be their Eire international goalkeeper Frank Stapleton.

He is a very dangerous player and once again seems to be among the goals for the Gunners this season.

Kenny Sansom has been a valuable addition to the team and I also rate Graham Rix very highly indeed.

KENNY — GLENN and Argentinian Osvaldo Ardiles are a duo in the Tottenham side that have the flair to win the match on their own.

I saw Spurs' two matches against Crystal Palace in the previous round and before Glenn was sent off he dominated the game.

Their two close season signings Steve Archibald and Garth Crooks have come in for some stick recently after their lean spell, but I still rate them both very highly.

Garth and Steve got off to a great start this season and I reckon they were a good investment for Spurs.

TROLLOPE'S TRIUMPH

John gets that record after 20 years at Swindon

SWINDON TOWN'S John Trollope had resigned himself to finishing his career just eight games short of the record number of appearances for one club.

But that was 16 months ago before Swindon Town nose-dived towards the bottom of the Third Division and John was called in earlier this season to try and help bolster the club's flagging fortunes.

And against Carlisle at the County Ground on Saturday he was due to run out for his 765th game for Swindon to beat Jimmy Dickinson of Portsmouth's record set between 1946-65.

"I retired to take over as youth team manager and never expected to play league football again," said John, who in his 20 years at the County Ground, Swindon, has seen seven managers come and go.

It was back in August 1960 that as a 17-year-old he made his debut for Swindon against Halifax Town.

That side that contained another youngster, Mike Summerbee, who went on to play for Manchester City and England.

"I have enjoyed my career — I have been promoted twice and relegated twice," said 37-year-old John, who once played for seven and a half years — 360 games — without missing a match.

"The highlight of my career was without doubt when we beat Arsenal in the final of the 1968-69 League Cup — it was a tremendous day for us."

"I don't know how long I shall continue playing for Swindon — every match now is a bonus for me."

City — by Barnes and Sansom

TOP PLAYERS Peter Barnes and Kenny Sansom have been talking about the problems facing struggling Manchester City, who sacked their manager Tony Book and coach Malcolm Allison.

Says ex-City winger Barnes, who shone in Albion's recent 3-1 defeat over the Maine Road club: "They need more experience if they are to make their mark this season."

"If youngsters are getting beaten each week it knocks their confidence. When I was 17 at City I played 12 first team games, then I was put back in the reserves for a spell. Players need introducing to top class football gradually."

Arsenal's Sansom, however, believes new manager John Bond will reap the benefit of Allison's hard work.

"I think it's unfair that Big Mal's efforts should come to fruition under another manager. I reckon he was on the right track and I was very disappointed to hear he had resigned," said Kenny who began his career under Big Mal's wing at Crystal Palace.

RIGHT: Bearded record-maker Trollope in action against local rivals Oxford.

Spectacular!

Laurie's school

REAL MADRID star Garcia Hernandez, one of the new stars of Spain's national team squad, has a big interest that has made him good friends with Englishman Laurie Cunningham.

The 26-year-old midfielder is very keen to learn English and says: "I spend a lot of my spare time reading books and studying the language. I speak to Laurie in English as much as possible to practice."

In fact a small school is being developed at the Santiago Bernabeu stadium, for Angel and Juanito are also taking the language up and often practice their English with the former West Brom and Orient winger, who at the same time brushes up his Spanish.

October's Birthday Team

All good things must come to an end! Here's the last in our series of Teams of the Month. And we are pleased to say that we can finish with a truly great line-up.

There are many great names and they simply add up to a very great team and one that could match any of the other 11 teams which we have published.

Just look at the October team! Date of birth is given after each name and then follows present club or job, previous clubs and honours.

Mascot Mick

CAN Mansfield Town manager Mick Jones go on to repeat the mascot touch he applied with his previous clubs? He was a Notts County player when they rose from Division Two in season 1970-71 and from Three in 1972-73, with Peterborough when they led Four in 1973-74, and then managed Kettering when they reached the F.A. Challenge Trophy final and filled the Southern League's second spot in 1978-79.

Krol No. 10

The great Ruud Krol's move from Vancouver Whitecaps of Italy made him the 10th player from foreign clubs to go to Italy since the ban of foreign players was lifted.

The 30-year-old sweeper is only likely to stay with Naples for six months, however — because the Canadian outfit want him back next Spring for the start of the NASL championships.

The nine foreigners now playing in Italy are: Prohaska (Inter), Van de Korput (Torino), Bertoni (Florence), Mauro (Catanzaro), Eneas (Bologna), Brady (Juventus), Falcão (Roma), Fortunato (Perugia) and Neumann (Udinese).

Tearaway Tommy

TOMMY Docherty may have been sacked three days before Queen's Park Rangers played Bolton, but he had a hand in Rangers starting the match with the fastest goal of the season.

"It was the Doc's idea to put very early pressure on our next home opponents," revealed Tommy Langley, who scored in just six seconds. "And the lads had a chat just before the game and decided just how we would do it. It worked perfectly."

This is how Tommy described his wonder goal:

"Dean Neal kicked off by touching it to Andy King, who played it back to Tony Currie. His first time ball down the left was flicked on by Steve Burke over Paul Jones and I hit it in with my left foot from just inside the box. Great stuff!"

Just for the record, the fastest professional goal is credited to Colin Cowperthwaite of Barrow who last season scored from the halfway line over a bewildered Kettering goalkeeper, just 3.3 seconds after the kick-off of their Alliance League game. He went on to score all four in the 4-0 win!

champions and the challengers.
Ipswich went to Merseyside searching for the almost unthinkable
... victory at the Anfield soccer shrine.
They almost found it in a soccer classic.
But Liverpool, spurred on by chants of "come on you MIGHTY Reds" from their biggest crowd of the season, were never going to let it happen...

IT'S THERE! All eyes in the Kop behind Paul Cooper's goal are trained on Terry McDermott's 40th minute penalty kick as it beats the Ipswich keeper for the Liverpool equaliser. Cooper, who saved a McDermott spot kick in Ipswich's League game at Anfield last season, managed to get a hand to the ball this time, but it wasn't enough to stop the ball spurting into the red goal net. Although he couldn't save Ipswich on this occasion, Cooper had a brilliant game as time and time again he staved off the Liverpool attack. And doesn't he look like the great Gordon Banks on this picture?

Stratton on the League Cup

WITH Watford's 7-1 thrashing of Southampton, Cambridge
United's 1-0 victory over holders
Wolves at Molineux and lowly Bury's win against Newcastle, the League Cup has already produced more than its fair share of shocks.

But I see no room for any surprise results in the fourth

THERE's nothing like the sudden death atmosphere of a cup tie and next week the League Cup competition really hots up with just 16 clubs battling for a place in the quarter-finals.

How will they fare? I've predicted a possible scoreline for each tie.

And I take great pleasure in welcoming a special guest to my column this week . . . Wolves' star midfielder Kenny Hibbitt.

Kenny tasted League Cup triumph with his side at Wembley last season.

Now he joins me in forecasting the results of the Fourth round ties . . .

LIVERPOOL

Final at Wembley
last March.

'LIVERPOOL are my tip to win the League Cup this season. It's hard to believe they have never won it before.

And if they avoid Forest in the draw on the way the two of them could be making up the final at Wembley in March.

I fancy Liverpool to beat Portsmouth 3-0 and I think Watford, Forest's opponents, have gone as far as they are going to.

Watford's win over Southampton surprised a lot of people, but I think it was a one-off and I'm going for a 2-0 Forest victory next week.

The Birmingham v Ipswich tie is a tricky one. Birmingham are a very good side at Surprises!

But Notts County and Cambridge could prove me wrong round and my eight to go into the draw for the quarter-finals are: Ipswich, Manchester City, Spurs, Coventry, Nottingham Forest, West Ham, West Brom and Liverpool.

The two lower division clubs with the best chance of ramming those words down my throat are Notts County and Cambridge.

Unfortunately both have away draws. Notts County have disposed of Newport and Q.P.R. and while their next opponents Manchester City are at the wrong end of the First Division, Maine Road is their last stop.

Cambridge already have the scalps of two First Division outfits — Wolves and Aston Villa.

To beat Coventry at Highfield Road would complete a marvellous hat-trick but I can't see it happening.

Meanwhile Ipswich should be good enough for the draw they need at St Andrew's and the return at Portman Road will be goodbye Birmingham.

Spurs against Arsenal is the big one in London and although the Gunners beat Tottenham 2-0 at Highbury in the League earlier this season the home advantage should just be enough for revenge.

home, but Ipswich are on song and I think they'll take it to a second game and win at Portman Road.

I'll go 1-1 at St Andrew's and 3-0 to Ipswich in the replay.

I have a sneaky feeling that Manchester City will do well in the League Cup this year and I'm going for them to beat Notts. County 2-1.

Spurs' match with Arsenal at White Hart Lane has all the makings of a tight game which could go either way.

However, Tottenham create a lot of chances at home and I'm going for them to win 1-0.

We haven't forgotten that it was Cambridge who knocked us out of the competition, but I'm taking Coventry to end their good run.

We really lost the tie when we were beaten 3-1 at their place. Cambridge deserved their 1-0 result at Molineux.

But I don't think they were the better side and I'm going for Coventry to beat them 3-0.

Barnsley are going well at present, but losing their manager Allan Clarke may have upset their rhythm a little.

West Ham are on the up and their small ground suits them so I'll say 2-0 to Hammers.

West Brom are another team I fancy to do really well in this competition and although I admit to not knowing too much about Preston I'll take the Albion to win 4-1.

Generally, you need a certain amount of luck in any cup competition, but a manager needs to do his homework to get success.

Our preparation was superb when we won the League Cup last season and that's what counted in the end.

Can you beat Paul's predictions?

The Goalmakers

WHO are the goalmakers? We have been asking the men in the know — the strikers for whom chances are set up by the midfield maestros. Today Leeds striker Terry Connor talks about team-mate Alex Sabella.

Alex Sabella Leeds United

BIRTHPLACE: Buenos

Aires, Argentina

BIRTHDATE: November 5, 1954

CAREER: River Plate (Argentina), Sheffield United, Leeds United

FOOTBALL LEAGUE

DEBUT: v Orient (h), August 19, 1978. Lost 1-2.

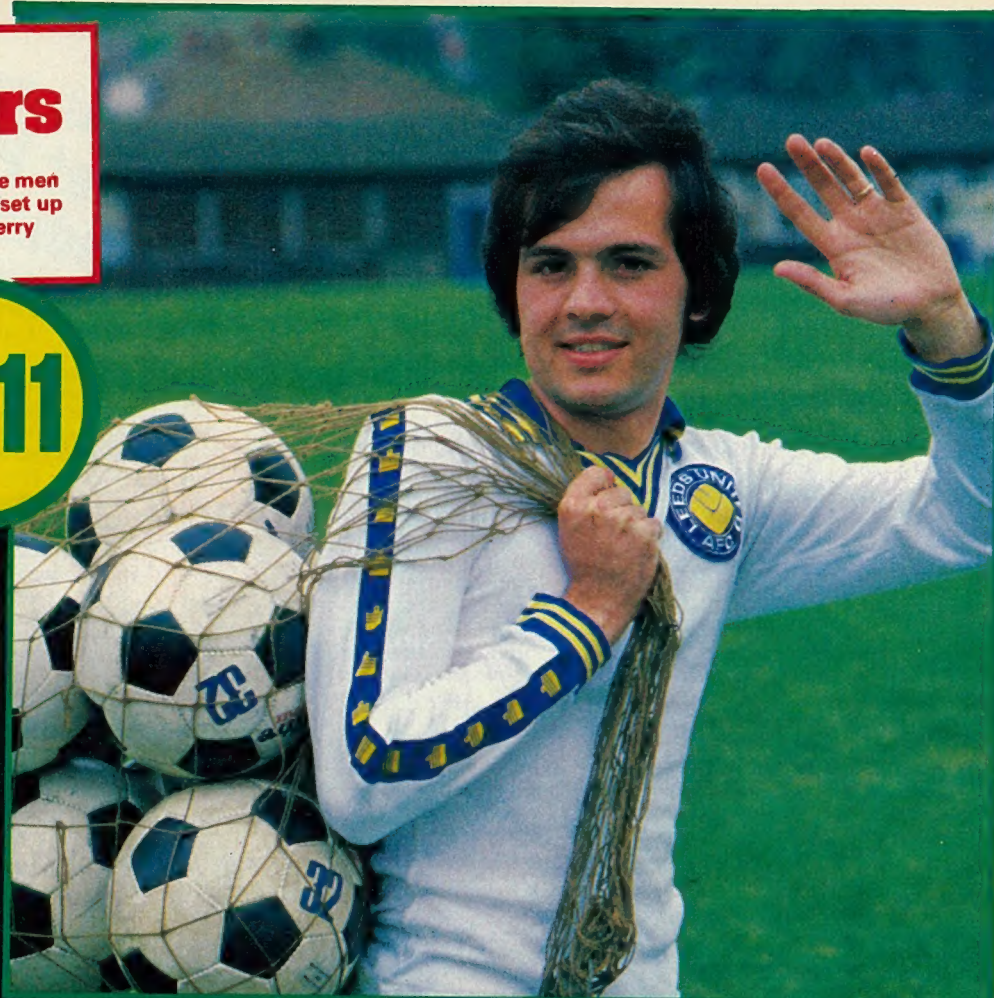

FOOTBALL LEAGUE

APPEARANCES: Sheffield United (76), Leeds (10).

INTERNATIONAL

APPEARANCES: 23 representative games in Argentina but no full caps to date.

No 11

Right: Alex Sabella — he's added a new dimension to Leeds.

Alex Sabella

"ALEX SABELLA has brought a new dimension to Leeds play and his own play. And it's only a matter of time before we start hitting top form and move away from the bottom of the table.

"The new manager, Allan Clarke, has got him working harder and getting involved more.

"He's got a magic left peg and is tremendous in short passing moves.

"Alex set up a goal for me at Norwich with his tremendous skill, wriggling his way past three defenders before clipping it to me at the near post.

"A couple of weeks earlier against Real Sociedad in a friendly I made a similar run but I was waiting for his cross at the far post.

"We talked about it later, worked at it in training and it paid off in that 3-2 win at Carrow Road."

Terry Connor... Sabella's got great skill on the ball and a magic left foot.

Lou!

LOU MACARI
(Manchester United) v
Leicester City, Football
League Division One,
September 13, 1980.

MANCHESTER United's little Lou Macari puts his head where other forwards fear to tread.

The former Scottish international admitted after scoring his goal against Leicester: "I thought I was going to get my head kicked as I dived for the ball."

Lou put the icing on the cake for United by scoring the fifth — and best — goal in United's 5-0 hammering of the First Division new boys.

Lou is pictured left stealing past Leicester's Bobby Smith to beat 'keeper Mark Wallington.

"I love scoring goals with my head because I am so small — I enjoy the challenge of beating the bigger boys," said Lou.

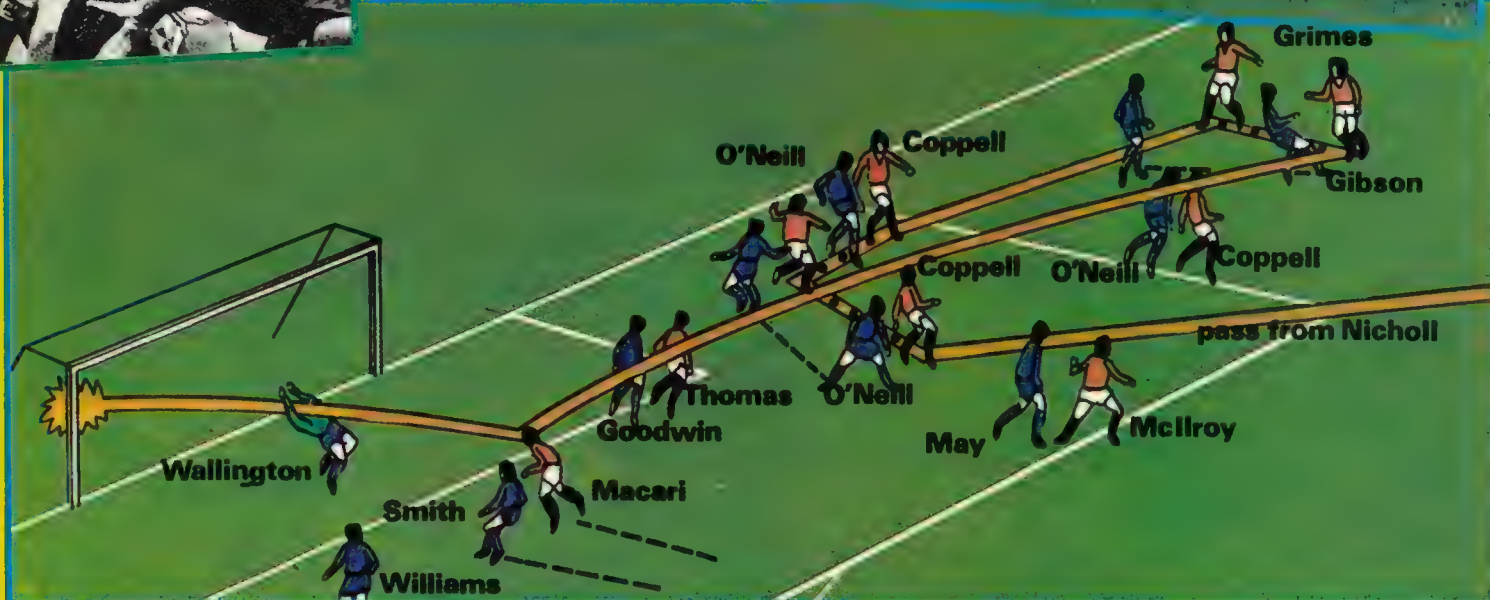

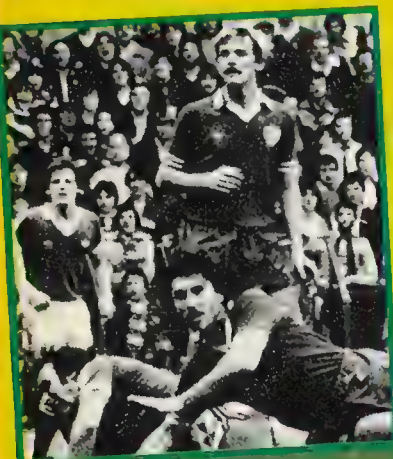

"It's an obvious disadvantage being so small and fighting in the air against central defenders, but I love it.

"I work hard in training sessions to improve my heading ability and I think it has paid off," added Lou.

"I have scored a few with my head but that one must rate as one of my better efforts.

"I remember that the ball was crossed in from the right by Ashley Grimes after some good work on the bye-line by Steve Coppell.

"When the cross came in I just flew to meet it."

THE WANDERERS ARRIVE IN STYLE - FOR THE GAME WITH THE ROUGHNECKS!

World Cup is my goal!

Gordon Cowans

GUEST SPOT this week welcomes Gordon Cowans, whose emergence as one of the country's outstanding young midfield players was finally recognised earlier this month with his call-up to the full England squad.

The Aston Villa star was named in both the Under-21 and full squad for the trip to Rumania . . . much to his surprise.

Here he talks about that call up . . . how he feels he could improve his game still more . . . and tells how it all began.

ASTON VILLA

Gordon Cowans Fact-File

BIRTHPLACE: Co. Durham
BIRTHDATE: October 27, 1958
FOOTBALL LEAGUE DEBUT: As sub v QPR, September 11, 1976 at Loftus Road. Lost 2-1.
LEAGUE APPEARANCES: 140
INTERNATIONAL HONOURS: 5 England Under-21 caps.

Bleary-eyed but happy

GORDON will long remember the phone call which dragged him from his bed at 8.45am on Tuesday, October 7.

The message from the friend on the other end of the line was: "Congratulations — you've made the full squad."

And that's how Gordon first heard of his call up for the England party which flew to Rumania for the World Cup qualifier.

"He just said congratulations to begin with and I said 'what for'.

"Obviously I was pleased but I must admit to being a bit surprised really.

"I thought I was playing quite well earlier in the season and then went through a bit of a rough patch.

"Ron Greenwood watched our game with Wolves and I didn't have a very good game. I wasn't very pleased with the way I played even though we won 2-1.

"To be honest I thought I'd blown my immediate chances especially when I wasn't named in the squad for the England 'B' game against the USA.

"But the boss had a word with me and told me not to be surprised if I was picked to go to Rumania," said Gordon who flew out fully aware that he was named in the full squad only as cover in case of injury.

Regarding the League scene and his hopes for Villa this season Gordon added: "It's pretty pleasing the way things have gone so far and I think we should be good enough for a top four spot at the end of the season."

'I ought to score more'

"HE HAS a lovely touch, two good feet, good vision. Everything about Gordon Cowans is good."

Some compliment . . . and it came from none other than Ron Greenwood.

But Gordon himself says there is one aspect of his game he would like to see improve.

He told Match: "Obviously it was a great compliment — especially as it came from the England manager.

"But I think I ought to score more goals. I don't think it's anything I can really work on — it's just something that I hope will happen.

"The most I have ever scored in a season is seven but just lately I seem to have been getting in more scoring positions."

Schoolboy's dreams of England

ONLY one career interested the young schoolboy who idolised Denis Law and George Best.

Gordon always wanted to become a professional footballer and his first break came when he was invited to train with Aston Villa as an 11-year-old.

"We lived at Mansfield at the time and I used to travel up to Birmingham.

"I signed schoolboy forms with the club at 13 and soon afterwards we moved up to Birmingham.

"I played midfield for my school — St George's Comprehensive at Aston — and signed apprentice terms with Villa when I left school at 16.

"I always dreamed of being a footballer and of course playing for England.

"Now my ambition has to be to play for England in the World Cup — every player has got to want to play for his country."

Once a butcher's boy—now an England prospect

STEVE DALEY

Why I turned down Liverpool

Joe Gallagher Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM City's big centre half Joe Gallagher was a regular spectator at Anfield — but when his heroes tried to sign him he turned them down.

Mersey born Joe said: "I thought I would have a better chance of making the grade with a smaller club."

Despite other offers from nearby Everton, and Blackpool, Joe chose to travel south in search of his career.

"I am very independent and decided that it would benefit my career if I moved away from home.

"With bigger clubs like Liverpool it is harder to get a chance of first team football — I did not want to stay in the reserves for too long."

Joe was spotted by the Birmingham scouts while playing for Liverpool Boys in their English Schools Trophy win over East London.

LITTLE did the customers know that butcher's boy Steve Daley would one day be carving up First Division defences instead of meat.

Steve landed the shop job when he left school but he soon gave it the chop when his soccer chance came.

"I just never turned up at the butcher's one day and that was it," recalled the Manchester City midfielder.

"I was playing football at weekends for a local team called Cudworth West End when I was spotted," said Barnsley-born Steve.

"I was invited to play with Wolves juniors and at 18 I signed professional terms — about the same time as Alan Sunderland.

"I only ever wanted one thing and that was to play football," said Steve.

Looking forward to his ambitions now Steve added: "Happiness and security for my family come first, but for me personally it has to be to play for England and play at Wembley."

How did you become a footballer? That's the question Match Weekly has been putting to some of the top stars in the game. Their answers make fascinating reading — and will be a revelation to the thousands of youngsters who dream about becoming soccer stars.

to stardom

It was always Palace for me

VINCE HILAIRE — Palace

FROM the age of 12 Vince Hilaire wanted to play for Crystal Palace.

"When I was at Rokeby School in Stratford, East London, there was never any other club but Palace for me," recalled the Young England star.

"I played for Newham under 13s on Sunday and was invited to go training with Palace, where John Cartwright, now the England Youth team manager, was a part-time coach.

"I learned a lot about the game there, particularly when to release the ball, and that helped me win a place in the Newham District Schools side which reached the quarter-finals of the English Schools competition.

"We were favourites that year and should have won it — especially with players like Henry and Chris Hughton (now Orient and Spurs), Nicky Morgan (West Ham), Peter Hucker (QPR) and John Chiedozie (Orient).

"But we lost 1-0 on a mud heap at Middlesbrough against Sheffield Boys — which didn't suit our style.

"Malcolm Allison had a lot to do with my signing for Palace although Spurs, Everton, Arsenal and West Ham were also interested.

"Another reason was that I felt I had a better chance of breaking through to the first team at Palace, because they had very little money and couldn't afford to buy players."

Right: Vince Hilaire — felt he had a better chance at Palace.

AWAY from the pressures of professional football my favourite sporting interests are tennis and swimming.

Both are outdoor sports — when the English summer allows at least — and both help keep me fit on top of my training.

Swimming is particularly good but it's tennis that is most popular among my United team-mates.

Arthur Albiston, Steve Coppell, Ray Wilkins and Paddy Roche all enjoy a game with the 'little' ball from time to time.

I'm lucky in that I have the use of good tennis facilities just five minutes drive from my Manchester home.

Other than sport my Wednesdays are fully taken up with studies for a science

Tennis keeps me in trim degree . . . when we don't have an evening game that is.

Apart from a full day's lectures it involves a lot of studying in my own time although I take care not to do so much that it interferes with my football.

I studied engineering at university before I became a full time soccer player so college life is nothing new and I enjoy it very much.

It gets me away from the tensions of football.

Anyone for tennis? Arthur Albiston and I love to do battle on the court.

"Play a Grundig, home or away."

"If you want to hear the best sounds around, wherever you are, listen to a Grundig Hit Boy.

It comes with its own carrying handle in either a smart-looking black or champagne finish, works off either mains or battery and has three choices of wave-band: VHF, Medium and Long Wave.

And at around £28.50 the Hit Boy is a really great deal, wherever you play it! You're onto a winner with Grundig."

GRUNDIG

Precisely Grundig. Precisely right.

Toffees...a sticky one

OUR match with Everton at Old Trafford on Saturday has all the makings of a tough encounter because they have come back really well after a poor season in the League.

Everton were in fact the opponents in my first game away from home in the United first team.

And although that match took place almost two years ago — on November 21, 1978 — it still seems very fresh in my mind.

Unfortunately we lost that one and the Goodison Park team went on to finish fourth in the League that season.

It's good to see the 'Toffees' doing well again and challenging at the top alongside Liverpool who have dominated the Merseyside scene for so long.

From a personal point of view I look forward to meeting up again with Everton midfielder Billy Wright.

I know Billy well from England Under-21 get together and he's one player we'll have to watch on the park.

He's a very strong player with a great shot.

Needless to say we'll be looking for two points because while we have done well away from home with draws at places like Spurs, Birmingham and Leeds we have let a couple of points slip away at Old Trafford.

Our 2-1 victory at Nottingham Forest for instance was particularly pleasing because it was only the second time they had been beaten at home in the League since their return to the First Division.

It was also our first away win of the season and although it was always likely we would get the backlash of their exit from the European Cup we held on for our first away win of the season.

Actually, Forest's City Ground is one of my three favourite away grounds along with White Hart Lane and Anfield.

It's always a good atmosphere at Forest and Liverpool but I think Spurs' ground has to be my all time favourite.

It's usually a good game when United play Tottenham and in the past I've reserved some of my better performances for our matches at their place.

Anyway, we followed the Forest victory with a 3-3 draw at home to Aston Villa.

The conditions were terrible with hail stones coming down at one point.

But there was certainly plenty of entertainment for the fans which goes a little way towards making up for the disappointment of not seeing us win.

I was very impressed with the way Villa worked together as a team and my former Under-21 team mate Gordon Cowans in particular for his ability to use both his feet equally well.

Another draw at home to Arsenal in our next game made it even more important that we return to our winning ways at Old Trafford against Everton.

Billy Wright wins a heading duel with Paul Mariner. Billy's one to watch on Saturday, says Gary.

My England 'B' test

WHEN the time came for me to leave my home in South Africa three years ago it was a fair bet that I would head for the States.

Most of the top players around at the time chose America to further their soccer careers.

Luckily, the way things have worked out, I chose to come to England, aiming to play in what is recognised as the best League in the world.

I wondered if I might meet up with some of the players I knew in South Africa when England 'B' played the USA at Old Trafford recently.

Let me just say how pleased I was to be selected for the match.

With my run as goalkeeper for the England Under-21 side now over as I'm 22 it was nice to keep in with the international scene and hopefully use the match as another stepping stone towards my eventual goal of making the full England squad one day.

Programme guide

GOOD colour pictures and an in-depth guide to the opposition are the outstanding features of the Arsenal match day programme.

We looked at the programme for The Gunners home game with Nottingham Forest and the front cover carried a colour action shot of a previous encounter between the two teams ... clever that!

Inside, more good colour action from Arsenal's game with Manchester City three weeks previously and a handsome colour poster of Kenny Sansom made the centre spread in 'Gunners on Parade'.

ARSENAL

Good stuff so far and the theme was maintained with a run-down on the Forest players and a potted history of the club featuring a fascinating statistical guide to every previous match between the two clubs.

However, the rest of the programme lacked imagination on the new ideas front. Predictable facts and figures, manager's message, spotlight on the reserves etc. but no features with the Arsenal players themselves talking — surely something Gunners fans would enjoy reading.

Cross and Poskett are men to fear SAYS LUTON'S DAVID MOSS

CLIVE ALLEN would have smashed the 30 goals barrier in the Second Division this season, says Luton's David Moss.

David, who finished runner-up to Crystal Palace star Clive with 24 league goals last season said: "If Clive had stayed with Queens Park Rangers he would have bettered his impressive tally of 27 goals — he's a natural scorer."

But David reckons that the men to fear this season are David Cross of West Ham and Watford's Malcolm Poskett, who have each got off to a great start.

"A good start is vital — but you also need a helping of luck."

"You need to score at least seven goals in the first ten games to stand a realistic chance of achieving the target."

"It is harder to score nowadays because defenders are quicker — and better organised than they used to be."

"This means that a forward cannot always beat his opponent on speed — he has to use more skill."

"Being a winger I don't expect to score many goals — I am happy if I hit the net 15 times in a season."

"Last term everything went right for me. I was finding myself in scoring positions and the ball fell kindly."

"This term I have struggled on the goalscoring front — the chances are just not going in."

"I am a firm believer in a points system for goals — it is just the boost football needs at the moment."

"It is terribly frustrating for players and crowds when visiting teams come to Kenilworth Road happy with one point from a 0-0 draw."

"I think an extra point for more than three goals would crush this stifling defensive football."

CONTINUING our fact-finding look at the goals business, Match writer Anthony Hawkswell this weeks goes down into the lower divisions to talk to three players with their sights fixed firmly on the back of the net...

ATTACK! it's the only way SAYS ALAN BUCKLEY OF WALSHALL

FEAR of losing is making it harder to score goals, according to Walsall's player-manager Alan Buckley.

Alan, one of the most consistent scorers in the Third Division over the past few years, said: "Defences are better organised nowadays because of this fear.

"I don't think the players are better than they were. They are just more clued up on how to play defensively.

"It's still possible for a striker to net 30 league goals in a season — I scored 34 in the 1975-76 season.

"But nowadays it is more likely that an unknown player will get the most goals because defenders will not be taking as much notice of him.

"Last season our young striker Don Penn scored 25 league goals, but this term he is finding life much harder because he has a reputation.

"Now that I am a manager I do not set myself a goal target, but in my early days I always aimed for 30.

"I would like to see a points system in the game where visiting teams are encouraged to go out and attack.

"Too many teams are happy with an away point and an away-points-for-goals system would encourage them to go forward."

40 goals a season? It's still on believes Northampton's STEVE PHILLIPS

THE ELUSIVE 40 League goals in a season target is still possible in the Fourth Division... that's the view of Northampton Town's prolific goalscorer Steve Phillips.

Steve, who scored 36 league and cup goals for Brentford in 1977-78, reckons that the magical figure can still be achieved despite today's more organised defences.

The last man to top the mark was Ted MacDougall, who netted 42 league goals for Bournemouth in 1970-71.

But to stay on target for a 40 goal season a striker can't really afford to go more than two games without scoring says Steve, who was recently presented with our Fourth Division Matchman of the Month award.

"You've got to keep clear of injuries and get good service from the rest of the team," added Steve, who is now in his second spell at Northampton following his close season move from Brentford.

Steve rates Peterborough's new scoring sensation Robbie Cooke and Jim Lumby of Tranmere as the men most likely to challenge the 40 goal barrier this term.

OUTRAGED!

RIGHT you lot — I'm Anthony Hawkswell and I'm in charge now.

Trevor Haylett's been sent off for being too lenient with Outraged readers.

I'll stand for absolutely no nonsense for the rest of the season . . . any back chat and you'll get the red card!

Risk my wrath . . . if you dare . . . by writing to me with your views on the game. Send your letters to Outraged, Match Weekly, Midgate House, Peterborough.

But be warned . . .

Keegan is over-rated

KEVIN Keegan is the most over-rated player in the Football League.

I can't see why he is captain of England — he's useless.

Ron Greenwood is useless as well — he is responsible for the decline of England.

Mark Bernard (12), Worle, Weston-super-Mare, Avon.

● Take an early bath! You get the red card for arguing with the referee. What do you have for breakfast — broken glass! Keegan is still tops in my book.

Forest fire is burning out

I THINK that the Brian Clough and Peter Taylor success story at Nottingham Forest is over.

It's time for a new manager to take over the reins at the City Ground.

Forest have enjoyed their success but now it is the turn of Liverpool, Spurs and Sunderland to dominate the First Division. Darren Dunn, Sunderland, Tyne and Wear.

● I'm letting you off with a booking — but be warned. What utter tripe. The Forest pair know exactly what they are doing. As for your predictions; only Liverpool can be seriously considered.

Yellow card £2

Turner is magic

I CANNOT understand why there is so much fuss made about goalkeepers Ray Clemence and Peter Shilton. Neither of them are any good.

England manager Ron Greenwood wants to go up to Roker Park and look at Sunderland's Chris Turner — he's magic.

The England duo just do not compare with my favourite.

Stephen Larman, Felling, Tyne and Wear.

● Your name goes straight in my book for dissent. Shilton and Clemence are the best keepers in the World today — Turner is an also-ran compared with the Masters.

Make Home tournament bigger

A POSITIVE step forward to improve the current Home International Championships would be to invite other European teams such as France, Belgium or Holland.

The teams could be paired into two divisions with the winners competing in the final.

With the addition of other countries we could call it the 'Channel Cup'.

Roger Farrant (13), Episkope, BFPO 53.

● You're in the book. You've got a caution for trying to make the season longer than it already is.

Much as I love football it is good to have a break in the summer to sit down and enjoy some cricket.

Brian Moore is London biased

I AM sick and tired of hearing commentator Brian Moore praising London clubs and players.

Whenever a London based player beats a man or scores he always describes the move as 'brilliant', 'marvellous' or 'fantastic'.

He is always boasting about some Londoner — if it's not Hoddle or Ardiles of Spurs it's Brooking of West Ham.

So come on Brian, give your visitors some credit for being able to play the game.

Alan Vincent, Peel, Isle of Man.

New League set-up would cut costs

WITH football team's expenses increasing all the time I think it is time that the Football League reverted to the Third Division north and south system.

It is ludicrous that teams like Exeter or Torquay have to make the marathon trek up north to Doncaster or Carlisle.

The level of competition would not suffer at all and with more matches of 'local interest' I believe attendances would improve.

R. J. Dixon, Sutton Park, Hull, Humberside.

Give Paul a run, Ron

RON GREENWOOD should now be seriously looking for a centre-half to replace Dave Watson of Southampton.

He has tried Larry Lloyd of Nottingham Forest and is considering Terry Butcher of Ipswich.

It seems obvious to me that Leeds United's Paul Hart is the man for the job.

He is good on the ground as well as in the air, and scores a lot of goals for this club.

Give Paul a run — Ron!

Simon Shuttleworth (14), Donisthorpe, Burton-on-Trent, Staffs.

Paul Hart — he would be a good England centre-half, says Simon Shuttleworth.

McKenzie for England

Duncan McKenzie, who has helped lift Blackburn to the top of Division Two.

£10
WINNER

TERRACE TALK

ONE player who deserves more recognition is Duncan McKenzie of Blackburn.

After being rejected by both Everton and Chelsea he finally ended up at Ewood Park and has picked up his own career with some excellent performances.

Duncan is the sort of player who will revel on the international scene and his knowledge of European football with Anderlecht would be more than useful to Ron Greenwood.

Clive Trusson (16), Worcester Park, Surrey.

FRANK GRAY

Join the MATCH
Soccer School

WHEN Jock Stein pencils in his Scottish squad, he fetches out the pen to fill in the name Frank Gray of Nottingham Forest.

The former Leeds midfielder is an automatic choice for his country at full back because of the attacking flair he brings to his role.

But, says Frank, he must not neglect his defensive duties and this week he continues his stint at the MATCH WEEKLY Soccer School with some tips on the block tackle.

1 BLOCK TACKLING

HOW IT'S DONE . . .

Tackling is the first technique which must be mastered by the back. I love to make runs up field to join the attack but it's often my job to win the ball first.

The block tackle is the most straight-forward method of gaining possession from an opponent — in this case my Forest pal Raimondo Ponte, who is a great student of the game and loves to practice his skills.

Concentrate on the ball and be quick in and out of the tackle. Defend with courage and determination.

Balance is most important and make sure at the point of impact that your body is over the ball and that you are positive with your tackle.

Remember too, learn as much as you can about your opponent as soon as you can in a match. Can he use one foot better than another? Does he like to go outside or inside? It's a professional approach that holds good at any level.

- 1 As Raimondo approaches I move into the tackling position . . .
- 2 . . . compact and firmly balanced to win the ball, bending the knees slightly to resist the challenge . . .
- 3 . . . and follow through, keeping the ball under control to make a break or lay it off to a team-mate.

Tackle a Star

DO YOU have a question for your favourite player? Then write to: 'Tackle a Star', Match Weekly, Midgate House, Midgate, Peterborough. We'll pay £2 for every question published.

ANDREW REDDING
... of Weymouth, Dorset

How tall are you? Do you have to be tall to be a good goalkeeper?

JOHN: I am 6ft 4in tall, Andrew — you don't have to be big but it can help.

The only real advantage of being tall is when dealing with crosses but it can be a disadvantage when you have to get down low for a shot.

I didn't go in goal because of my height — it was because our regular keeper was injured and I was the only one willing to take his place!

Dylan Hughes

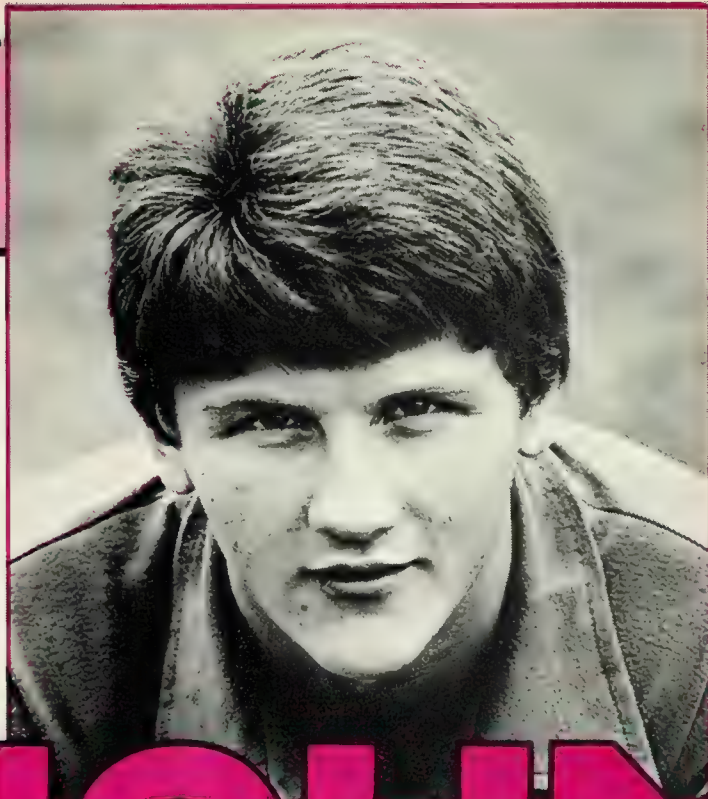

... of Dyffryn Ardudwy, Gwynedd: How do you rate the new Leeds United manager Allan Clarke?

JOHN: I have always rated Allan very highly, Dylan. He has many good ideas on the game.

The atmosphere since he took over has been excellent and all the players are looking forward to helping push Leeds United up the table.

I met him when I first joined Leeds — but after a few months he moved to Barnsley.

LEEDS UNITED'S

JOHN

JONATHAN WHITELAW

ROGER POWER

... from Plymouth, Devon: Who was your childhood hero and why?

JOHN: I was born in Chesterfield — the same place as the great Gordon Banks.

He was always a player I admired and I was lucky enough to see him play on a number of occasions.

Gordon was a very good all-round goalkeeper who thoroughly deserved to get to the top of the tree.

... from Stockport, Cheshire: Does a bad run of results affect your confidence? JOHN: After a game I analyse what went wrong and try to put it right in training — worrying is not the answer.

The coaches at Leeds are great — they just tell me not to worry and just go out and play.

STUART THORN

... of Greenford, Middlesex: What advice to you have for aspiring young goalkeepers?

JOHN: Don't get too bogged down with learning different aspects of goalkeeping when you are young, Stuart — just go out and play as often as you can.

Philip Vickers

... of Matlock, Derbyshire: Who has the hardest shot you have faced?

JOHN: One that I particularly remember, Philip, was from Russell Osman in our recent game at Ipswich.

He let fly with a tremendous shot which nearly had me beaten.

Another player I rate highly as a 'power shot' is Tony Morley of Aston Villa.

He beat me earlier this season in the first leg of our League Cup tie at Villa Park.
